

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASEACOM Staffers Earn Imaging Certification Through Rigorous Test Series

LONG BEACH, California, April 2, 2008 – Five of ACOM's finest have received the Certified Document Imaging Architech (CDIA+) Certification awarded by the Computing Technology Industry Association (CompTIA), an organization self-described as "...the voice of the $3 trillion information technology industry," with membership in more than 100 countries.

The CDIA+ certification validates the knowledge of professionals who deliver document imaging solutions. It is a vendor-neutral certification that proves expertise in the technologies and best practices used to plan, design, and specify a document imaging, management system.

The ACOM personnel who have won the certification by passing a series of rigorous tests include:

- Angela Doolittle – Corporate Product Manager, Duluth office
- Marisel Jones – Professional Services Manager, Duluth office
- Zach Pitts – System i Technical Support Analyst, Duluth office
- Regina Canto – Pre-Sales Engineer, Long Beach office
- Alex Cheng – Windows Professional Services, Long Beach office

"We congratulate these valued associates on their achievement," said Mark Firmin, Senior Vice President. "The certifications represent personal investments in time and energy in order to attain a higher level of professionalism, which benefits not only our company but emphatically, our current and future customers. In fact, this attitude of excellence prevails throughout the company and we feel that it is one of the primary reasons for ACOM's continuing growth, prosperity and customer satisfaction."

According to the association, the CompTIA CDIA+ certification is a consistent, objective way to evaluate imaging industry professionals. Experts from the public and private sectors, from disciplines including training, academia and government, collaborate with CompTIA in developing vendor-neutral industry-defined exams that validate an individual's IT skill set. Companies that support CompTIA CDIA+ certification include Canon, Ricoh, Konica, Kyocera, Hyland Software, Bowe, Bell & Howell, Fujitsu, Sharp, IBM and Panasonic.
